Dear Mister Smith-Jones Esq.

Thank you for your recent inquiry about the available positions at the renowned gated condo community on the Nebraska Gold Coast.
I am pleased to share that we have several exciting vacancies opening up this fall, and I would love to provide you with more information about these opportunities.
Nearly a century ago, our developer's neighbor was none other than Edgar Cayce, the renowned "Sleeping Prophet." As highlighted in our sales brochure, Edgar dedicated countless hours to discussing his visions of impending "Earth Changes," which he predicted would transform Nebraska into a prominent seaside resort.

Most of the other residents often indulged Edgar's imaginative ideas, they did so with a sense of humor, recognizing that he was, after all, their neighbor.

While the rest of the community brushed it off as merely a bizarre nightmare, our founding father, Emil, meticulously documented the details, storing them away for future reference as we neared the timeline Edgar had predicted.
By the mid-2000s, Emil started to recognize what he perceived as early warning signs of an impending "Earth Changes" that Edgar had foretold. Acting swiftly, he liquidated his substantial holdings of post-Saddam Iraqi Dinars, which had been promoted as a lucrative currency investment. To further bolster his financial strategy, he sold his beloved Harley and redirected those funds into acquiring what he anticipated would soon become prime beachfront properties.

Emil's initial effort to secure construction funding was marred by significant marketing errors, leading to extensive investigations by a coalition of local and federal agencies.

This turmoil was compounded by a contentious legal battle with the Edgar Cayce Organization, which took issue with Emil's prominent use of Cayce's predictions about future events to promote seaside condo lots as a means to generate capital for construction.

Years later, it is clear that both Edgar's foresight and Emil's knack for capitalizing on a highly profitable real estate opportunity were validated by the significant developments of the late 2030s. Nebraska has emerged as a hidden gem, boasting a coastline that many from older generations likened to the once-celebrated Italian Riviera.

To address your question about purchasing and legal ownership rights here at Lone Palm, I want to clarify that the rumors suggesting the new tribal government plans to annex the community's beachfront are completely unfounded.
These are nothing more than malicious fabrications spread by opportunistic outsiders and real estate investors who have suffered losses elsewhere, such as in Yuma, Arizona, during the flooding that turned Phoenix into a series of islands.

Rest assured, these claims are baseless and should not deter you from considering your investment here.

Emil and the tribal authorities are making significant progress on the construction of the first in a series of casinos and resorts located just beyond the Lone Palm.

This ambitious project has been propelled by the efforts of Emil's business partner, Mister Seine LaGone, who successfully persuaded the new territorial COG Military Commander to clear out the influx of squatting refugees. These individuals had been arriving in large numbers as communities to the west faced flooding and geological instability, a scenario just as Edgar had predicted long ago.

The eviction of squatter refugees by the Regional COG Command Center has been portrayed in state media in a way that obscures the reality of the situation.
This narrative has been manipulated to fuel financial turmoil along the new Gold Coast, primarily benefiting opportunistic investors who have entered the market late.
